RUSSIA'S NEW CZARINA

The Marriage of Czar Nicolas and Princess Alix.

AN AMNESTY FOR POLISH REBELS

The Czar's Manifesto Returns to Them All Civil Rights, but Not Their Confiscated Property - Sentences of Imprisonment Mitigated or Shortened.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 27. - Through cheering crowds the czar's wedding procession slowly wended its way from the Anithkoff palace to the Winter palace, where the words that made them man and wife were pronounced. Reaching the Winter palace, the royal party entered the Malachite hall, where the bridal pro-ession was formed. At its head were the court innetionaries, and then came the czarina, escorted by the king of Denmark, her father; the ezar and Princess Alix came next, followed by the Prince and Princess of Wales and the other members of the imperial and royal families, another batch of court officials bringing up the

The bridal procession marched to the Piketnaya room, which adjoins the church. In this room remained the majority of the officials and the members of the lesser nobility, only the imperial family and their royal guests and the indispensable functionaries passing into the small chapel.

The bride's dress was white, richly embroidered with gold, and on her head was the usual kokoshnik belonging to the costume and ornamented with diamonds. The bride's mantle was of purple velvet, lined with ermine. The bride's train was borne by five officials, two walking on either side, while the grand chamberlain held the hem.

The czar wore the uniform of the famous Red Hussars of the guard, with a dolman suspended from the right shoulder. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha wore Russian uniforms, while the Duke of York wore a naval uniform. All the royal princes were the cordon of the Order of St. Andrew.

In the center of the chapel of the Winter palace stood a holy table, on which had been placed the gospel and a cross. Between the table and the altar were multibranched candelabra with lighted tapers Behind the table, facing the altar, stood the proto-pre-byter. Yanischeff, attired in gorgeous vestments of cloth of gold. Close behind the bridal pair the imperial and royal spectators formed a semicircle. The ceremony was concluded a few minutes before 2 o'clock. The ezar and his bride then approached the downger czarina to greet and thank her. She embraced her son and his wife, after which they were embraced and kissed by the king of Denmark and their other relatives. Everybody was rruch moved, and the bride was in tears. The czar was very pale, and was visibly affected. The newly married couple called at the Cathedral of Kazan on their way back to the Anitchkoff palace for the purpose of invoking the blessing of the Almighty after their marriage, and in order to kiss the miraculous image of Our Lady of Kazan. The newly married couple then resumed their return journey back to the Anitchkoff palace, where the dowager czarina had already preceded them.

Later the exar and exarina, accompanied by Grand Duchess Olga, youngest sister of the exar, appeared at a window of the palace overlooking the Newski Prospect. Here they stood for fifteen minutes, howing repeatedly in response to the acclamations of the multitude gathered outside of the palace, Grand Duchess Olga, with girlish enthusinsm, repeatedly kissed her hand to the crowd. The ezarma, leaning on the arm of her husband, smiled radiantly on the throng There were several demonstrations, though of shorter duration, during the next hour. The ezar's manifesto, mentioned in these dispatches yesterday, remits various debts to the crown, including the repayment of the grants made to peasants on account of the famines. He also wholly remits all arrears of taxes and fines and mitigates or shortens sentences of imprisonment, police supervision and deportation at hard labor. The prosecution for treason of offenders who have remained undiscovered for fifteen years will be abandoned. The indulgencies to political prisoners will be decided upon after a report has been submitted to the czar by the minister of the interior. Amnesty is granted to the participants in the Polish rebellion of 1868, and they will be permitted to reside any where in Russia. Their civil rights, but not their property, will be restored to

Bogus Lottery Tickets Captured.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Gaston Cazenavette, alias J. W. Bruce, was arrested in this city last night on a charge of forging tickets of a lottery. He had in his posses sion a large number of the tickets. All of the tickets an agent of the lottery declared to be spurious. Cazenavette, who is said to be a nephew of Paul Conrad, the recently deceased president of the Honduras lottery, made a confession, in which he declared that the scheme to flood the country with the bogus tickets originated with a party of New Orleans men, whose names he gave. The total number of agencies located in the country he gave as fortyeight. No tickets had been sold, the lot found on Cazenavette being the first instalment printed.

The Trouble Over.

A prominent man in town exclaimed the other day: "My wife has been wearing out her life from the effects of Dyspepsia, Liver Compleint and Indigestion. Her case baffled the skill of our best physicians. After using three packages of Bacon's Celery King for the Nerves she is almost entirely well." Mr. Addieks, the Defendant, Named as Sen ator Higgins' Probable Successor.

WILMINGTON, Del., Nov. 27.-The news that Mrs. J. Edward Addicks has begun suit for divorce from her bushand will undoubtedly create a sensation in social and business circles in New York, Boston and Newport, as well as Philadelphia, where both Mr. and Mrs. Addicks are well known. Mr. Addicks, in an interview at the Union League club in Philadelphia yes! terday, said: "The charges are entirely false. A trial of the case will demonstrate this. That is all I have to say."

Although living most of the time in other parts of the country, Mr. Addicks has for eighteen years claimed Claymont, Del., a small town about ten miles north of Wilmington, as his home, and has voted there. He has, however, always lived a portion of each year at his handsome country seat at Claymont.

Adjoining the Addicks place is the magnificent estate of Mrs. Ida Carr Wilson, who is named by Mrs. Addicks as the corespondent in the case. Mrs. Addicks dectares that the Wilson estate is maintained by her husband. Mrs. Wilson, who is said to be a talented, fascinating woman of 40 or 45, once a leader in society, is the widow of Joseph B. Wilson, at one time prominent in Delaware affairs, who died in 1886. The Addicks and Wilson families, living on adjoining estates, naturally became intimate, and it was this intimacy that caused Mrs. Addicks to finally leave her husband.

What effect the action of Mrs. Addicks will have upon the senatorial aspirations of her husband can only be conjectured. Up to the present time all signs have pointed to Mr. Addicks as the successor of Anthony Higgins in the United States senate. The legislature of Delaware will elect a senator on Jan. 15.

The Armenian Atrocities.

Boston, Nov. 27.-Further information relative to the massacre of the Armenians near Bitlis, Turkey, has been received by Secretary Gulesian, of the United Friends of Armenia. News has been received from the region back of Moosh that forty-eight villages are said to have been wholly blotted out. A letter from Moosh had been received which told of the outbreak of a virulent form of cholcra which was killing from twenty-five to thirty-five persons daily. It is caused, it is said, by the stench of carnage which has taken place not far back in the mountains. The number of the massacred will reach between 8.000 and 10,000. Twenty-seven villages have been annihilated in Sassoun.

Plimmer Wins Easily.

CONEY ISLAND, N. Y., Nov. 27.—The Seaside Athletic club offered a very at-tractive card last night for the lovers of boxing. The big contest of the night was between Billy Plimmer, of England, and Charley Kelley, of New York, at 114 pounds. Everything was in Plimmer's favor, as he was much the more scientific man. The battle was so one sided that the police interfered when the third round had only lasted one minute and thirtyfive seconds. The referee awarded the fight to Plimmer, and the verdict was re-

District Attorney Fellows' Defense. ALBANY, Nov. 27. - District Attorney Fellows, with his counsel, Mr. McCurdy, are here to present to Governor Flower in person his answer to charges preferred against him. It is understood from an authoritative source that Colonel Fellows will deny any delay in the prosecution of criminals by specifying in every case that the collecting of evidence upon which to convict could not be accomplished without such delay. It is estimated that the Good Government club will prefer some charges of a different nature.

DELAWARE'S DIVORCE SENSATION | SINGULAR SUIT FOR SUPPORT.

A Titled Frenchman Demands That His Mother-in-Law I rovide for Him.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.-Four years ago Miss Florence Audenreid, a b autiful heiress of this city, was married to Count Divonce, of France. The mother in-law, Mrs. Audenried, has an income of $25,600 a year, while her titled son in-law has only debts. The count has always labored under the impression that a good share of the mother-in law's income belonged to him. The efforts of the count and countess to compel Mrs. Audenried to support them have kept society amused.

Mrs. Audenried has been very generous in her treatment of the young couple, but the count is dissatisfied, and demands the settlement of a large sum on him for life. He claims that Mrs. Audenried bought him for her daughter by agreeing to support him, and hes engaged ex-Judge Jere M. Wilson and ex-Judge Shellaharger to bring suit to compel her to do so.

Mrs. Aud mried has said to the count that she will give him $8 600 a year if he and his wife will leave the country and live in France under promise of never putting foot on American soil during her lifetime. If he refuses, his mother-in-law declares she will not give him one cent. The offer is exasperating to the count. He owes thousands apon thousands of francs in France, and if he took up his abode there his income would be swallowed up by creditors. He says he might manage, by living in a style far beneath his rank and dignity, to exist on $8,000 a year in

A volley of bullets were fired at the cab, and as the caboose went by that was also fired into and riddled.

THE BONDS AWARDED.

Secretary Carlisle Selis Them to the Stewart Syndicate.

THEY BRING A HANDSOME PREMIUM

The Syndicate Takes the Whole Issue of Fifty Million Dollars at 177.077 -- The Government, Therefore, Gets Over Eight Millions in Premiums.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 .- Secretary Carlisle yesterday acted in the matter of the allotment of the $50,000,000 5 per cent. bonds, bids for which were opened at the treasury department Saturday. He accepted the proposals submitted by the syndicate represented by Mr. John A. Stewart, of the United States Trust company of New York, and others to take the entire issue at 117.077.

It is the expectation of officials that the deposits of gold for the payment of the bonds will be made very promptly, and as the understanding is that none of the gold is to be taken from the treasury, an early restoration of the gold reserve to above the $100,000,000 mark will be the result. The bonds, including premium, will realize to the government about $58,500,000.

The gold balance, which is now in round numbers $57,500,000, will, if the expectations of the officials regarding the deposits of gold for the bonds are borne out, be increased to about $16,000,000 Refore yesterday, however, there had been $4,550, 000 in gold drawn from the sub-treasury at New York, presumably to be used in the payment for bonds. The bonds are deliverable as soon as the gold is deposited, and as the bureau of engraving and printing has been busy at work preparing for the issue they will, it is expected, soon be ready for distribution.

The bands are to be delivered as follows: $40.049,000 at New York; $3,000,000 at Boston, $3,000,000 at Philadelphia, $2,000,000 at Chicago and $2,000,000 at San Francisco or other United States treasuries, as may be approved by the treasury department.

WILL NOT DISTURB KOLB.

The Populist May Call Himself Governor Without State Interference.

MONTGOMERY, Ala , Nov. 27.-In view of the sensational utterances given to the press by the Populist congressmen elect, Howard, of this state, and some correspondent as to what Kolb and his 20,000 followers would do here next Saturday The Advertiser asked Governor Jones to state his views as to the prospect of any disorder that day. In response Governor Jones

"There will not be the slightest disturbance on inauguration day, for two very good reasons. First, there is no cause for challenging the result of the election as declared by the official court. Many of the most intelligent Populist and Republican leaders admit that Colonel Oates is elected. "Second, it is known that the authorities are thoroughty prepared to stamp out any disorder. We are not in Mexico.

where any perty chief can issue a pronunciamento and rally any respectable number of people to his standard of revolt. Armed bands, even if they could be gotten together, would not be permitted to come to the capitol. Hundreds of Populists would respond to the call of the civil authorities.

"Possibly the defeated candidates may take the oath of office somewhere before a justice of the peace on inauguration day, and even go the extent of issuing a procla-mation as governor, but this would be just as harmless and have as little effect as the doings of patients in insane hospitals Merely pretending to be governor is a very harmless offense, and does not amount to treason under our laws. As long as the defeated candidate avoids violation of the law he will be left alone in his glory."

Italy's Threat to Brazil.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27. — Nothing is known officially here of the reported trouble between Italy and Brazil, which is said to have reached a phase so acute that it is stated that. Italy has threatened to send a fleet of war vessels to Brazil to enforce her demands. But it is known from unofficial sources that the two gov ernments have been at odds for nearly a year owing to a demand made by the Italian government for indemnity for the maltreatment of a number of Italian subjects and the destruction of their property in the course of riots in Rio. As nearly as can be gathered Brazil leas admitted some degree of accountability, and the question at issue is one of amount in indemnity rather shan of principle.

COLUMNIA, S. C., Nov. 27.-Senator M. C. Catarrh starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat and is in fact, the great enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarrh, causing, an excessive flow of mucus, and if the mucus discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarrh will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about the eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and oftentimes a very offensive discharge. ### THE BANK LOOTERS.

Seely, the Fugitive Bookkeeper, Not Yet Located.

BAKER'S SHARE IN THE BIG STEAL

Evidence Accumulating That the Dead Man. Had Contemplated Suicide for Some Time. Believed to Have Robbed Estates of Which He Was Executor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 .- The doors of the National Shoe and Leather bank were opened yesterday just as unconcernedly as though the institution had not been recently plundered of $354,000 by one of its trusted bookkeepers. "We are prepared for any emergency," said one of the bank directors. "We stand prepared to pay out every dollar of our indebtedness just as soon as it is called for." There was no run on the bank, although the officials were prepared for one. There was $$0,000 paid out, an average day's business, while the receipts were largely in excess of that amount.

Despite the assertions of Frederick Baker's sons to the effect that their father was not the man implicated with Seely in the looting of the bank, and that he did not even have an account there, Paying Teller Gilbert Sayres, of the bank, the man who for eight years past has cashed checks for Baker personally at least three times a week, averaging about $300 each, has positively identified the body:

If Seely is alive the bank officials will do all they can to bring him back, as his svidence is absolutely necessary in order to recover the losses from Baker's estate. If the fugitive bookkeeper can be communicased with, it is thought, the bank officials will offer him inducements: to return, which in effect will be a practical guarantee of immunity from prosecution. The box of the late Frederick E Baker in the vaults of the First National bank was opened yesterday afternoon in the presence of the vice president of the Park National bank and their attorney, Thrector Beach and the Shoe and Leather bank's attorney, and Frederick R. Baker, son of the late Mr. Baker, and his attorney. Sundry papers of no value, memoranda of possible value and am amount of currency less than $300, were found in the box. There were also several life insurance policies drawn by the Equitable Life Insurance company. In the box there was also a will executed by the deceased Mr. Baker in 1871-

The bank officials are going to pay considerable attention to the late Mr. Baker's life insurance policies. They say they are convinced that the Baker family will be made to see the justice of the bank's claim againse his property, and they look for restitution as ample as the Bakers can

From certain facts addresed today there can be little doubt that Baker had planned to commit suicide some time ago. No later than Oct. 4 last Mr. Baker had taken out two insurance policies of $10,000 each with the Equitable Life Insurance company. It was found that these policies were incontestable, an additional promium, of $100 each being paid to make them so. The two policies were made payable to Baker's wife, and the officials of the insurance company have made practical adnission that they are not rendered invalid because of Baker's suicide. It is also known that Baker tried to take out a policy for $10 (0) with a Connecticut life insurance company, but declined to do so because the company would not strike out the suicide clause in his policy. It is thought Baker had at least $24000 worth of incontestable insurance on his life, all of which was made in favor of his wife

Attempts to trace the disposition that Baker made of the money of which ho robbed the bank, and the public announcement of his transactions therewith, have brought to light facts that indicate that as far back as fifteen years ago he began his peculations, and that his stealings will amount in the aggregate to an enormous sum, far above the amount taken from the bank.

Baker, who had a good reputation for ionesty and business shrewdness, succeeded in getting control, during the latter years of his life, of a number of good e-tates. He was either executor or the trustice of funds for the beirs. Those persons who trusted him are now alleging that he appropriated large sums of money belonging to them to his own use. Just how far as he did so only his own books that are now locked up in his safe in charge of his son Frederick will show.

If these charges prove true they show Baker to have been not only one of the most remarkable detaulters of the age, but also explain to a large extent why it became necessary for him to enter into a scheme with Seely to rob the bank. Being unfortunate in his speculations, in most part, Baker, his accusers say, resorted to the bank thefts to get money to pay these accruing amounts. In this way he kept those for whom he was trustee absolutely in the dark as to the state of their property.

Another Thieving Bank Clerk. NEW YORK, Nov. 27. - The National Bank of the Republic has been victimized by one of its employes to the extent of $17,700. The discovery was made in August last, but was not made public until yesterday. Vice President E. H. Pullen said: "Yes, the statement is true, and though the evidence was not such as to warrant criminal action the clerk was discharged." The name of the defaulter was David E. Morgan, who was the discount clerk in the bank The amount of his theft was made good by relatives.

M. CASIMIR-PERIER.

How the New President of France Appears

After the tragic death of the late M. Carnet at the hands of an assassin it must needs be a brave man who would fill his place. Such a man is M. Casimer-Perier, the new head of the French government. On a bright Sunday in October it was rumored about Paris that the president would attend the races at Longchamps, in the Bois de Boulogne. The French, auxious to see how M. Casimer-Perier bore his new honors, and the foreign element of Paris, eager for a sight of this courageous successor to kings and emperors, were out in great

Early in the afternoon the Champs Elysees, the Avenue Bois de Boulogne and the main roads of the bois itself were throughd with spectators. Evidently something unusual was going on. The stranger was courteously informed that it was not a parade; that the president would shortly pass by on his way from the races.

A detachment of the mounted guards of the republic, in their glittering armor, was grouped in a picturesque manner around the great base of the Arc de Triomphe. At every few yards police were stationed, from the Palais de Elysee to the race course, a distance of several miles. Thousands of people lined the streets, and hundreds of cabs drove slowly back and forth, though half of the way was kept constantly clear by mounted officers. Among the notable Americans seen in the crowd were Dr. Evans of Empress Eugenie fame, in his private brougham, and Miss Sybil Sanderson of the grand opera, in a handsome victoria. The bystanders were most parient, many of them waiting hours. Every neck was craned, every eye was turned toward the bois. Judging from the amount of preparation and excitement, it might well have been the great Napoleon himself whom they expected. Presently a startling sight greeted the beholders. It was in the shape of a bright red coupe drawn by a chestnut horse. The people laughed and jeered in their light hearted French way, while the lone man in the vehicle grinned in a self satisfied way. Clearly it was not the president.

A moment later a captain of the guard spurred down the avenue, followed in quick succession by several mounted privates. The way was instantly cleared, the gay coupe disappearing down by a bypath, and the four horsed open carriage of M. Casimir-Perier drove rapidly out of the Bois. The president, a dignified, fine looking man in the prime of life, was accompanied by his wife and two gentlemen. There were two flunkies on the box seat in white livery and two footmen in the rear. The president lifted his hat courteously; but, strange to say, there was no cheering such as greets the Prince of Wales in London or our own executive at home. It remained for two foreign ladies, English and American respectively, to throw the only flowers which M. Casimir-Perier received in all that crowd. With real republican enthusiasm, these young women rose up in their cab and tossed, with true feminine aim, a bunch of carnations. All but one fell to the ground and were crushed by the wheels of his carriage, but the last alighted on the lapel of the presidential coat. It was quickly handed to him by an observant lackey. M. Casimir-Perier graciously accepted it, bowing his thanks, and was speedily driven from view.—Cor. Detroit Free Press.

NORTH DAKOTA'S NEW BUG.

Nobody Knows What Industry It Has Come to Destroy.

A strange insect has made its appearance in North Dakota in large numbers and has been the source of much speculation as to its character, habits and name. It has been seen for many weeks past in myriads in certain localities and is now met with, as it has made its presence felt for weeks past, in stores. offices, barber shops, hotels and on the trees and walks. Where it came from and where and when it will go are yet unanswered questions. Professor Waldron of the state experimental station at Fargo says it is closely allied to the chinch bug that has caused millions of dollars' worth of damage during certain years in Minnesota and other states. He is of the opinion that these bugs came from South America, where most of their allies live. The insects were first noticed in this portion of the state about the middle of August at Spiritwood lake. The bugs were seen in all stages of growth-from the red coated young to the black winged adults-hanging in clusters from the limbs and in large numbers on the trunks of the trees. The next instance known of their presence was on Sept. 20, when thousands of the young were found in the timber at the junction of the Pipestone and James rivers in this city. Nearly a dozen patches of the young, varying four or five feet to 60 feet in diameter, were discovered. The mass. A few fully developed bugs were noticed among the young. Thousands were seen on the brush, logs, trees and stones. The insects, while in the larval state, remained in this locality for about two weeks and suddenly disappeared.

The adult bug is a little less than half an inch in length, is dull black in color, with small red markings, and has four wings. The first pair are leathery at the base and membraneous at the tips. Its mouth consists of a single sucking tube, so that its living is obtained entirely by sucking. The young are similar to the adults, except that they are red and are wingless. With the growth of wings black markings appear. -Minneapolis Journal.

TRYING A BIG TELESCOPE.

Preliminary Test of the Forty Inch Lense For the Yerkes Observatory.

In Cambridge on Sunday evening there was an experimental test of the great 40 inch telescope now being made for the University of Chicago by Professor G. E. Hale, the astronomer, under whose directorship the new Yerkes observatory of the University of Chicago will enter upon its career; a friend of his, a rising young physicist last connected with the Massachusetts institute of technology; Mr. Clark and his assistants. The great lenses, the largest that the world has ever seen, each of them equal in diameter very nearly to an ordinary buggy wheel, weighing with their mountings more than 1,200 pounds, were maintained in their position high in air by a great steel tube, 63 feet in length, and seeming in the dimness of the night almost interminable. The ponderous tube is poised midway upon a great shaft, which permits free motion in every direction, and this again is perched upon a massive pier of masoury capable of upholding in safety the tons of weight which it is called upon to bear.

Mounting the stepladder which served as a temporary observing chair, Professor Hale placed his critical eye at the tube, and then in deliberate succession applied the different tests known to astronomers. To the uneducated eye the glass on this preliminary test was truly at perfection, but the trained eyes of the experts caught points at times whereby the delicacy of the instrument might be increased. Then the planet Mars came within range of the instru-

The first view of this object by Professor Hale brought forth exclamations of delight, for this telescope by far exceeded in light collecting ability any instrument which he had previously turned upon the planet. Mars showed itself as a great reddish yellow disk, whose clean cut edges attested the excellence of the instrument. Its brightness with 40 inches of aperture was almost sufficient to blind the eye, and its great disk was figured with the dark and light markings which define its topography. For an hour or more the planet was kept in view, delighting every one of the assembled group with the splender of the sight. Then began a search for the satellites. These are faint stars, visible at their best only with good apertures, and so close to the planet as to be hardly beyond the glare of light which it diffuses. The outer one, Deimos, was easily caught, but for some time Phobos, its companion, could not be discerned. It was at last seen by Mr. Clark almost against the body of its principal, and for nearly half an hour it was followed by the different members of the company.

The lenses, excellent as they have proved to be, will again be placed in the shop, and with the knowledge gained of their minor inaccuracies of figure they will again undergo local treatment until they reach that high standard which has placed the Clark glasses always in the van in point of interesting astronomical discovery.-Boston Tran-

PRETTY MANICURE GIRLS.

They Fascinate Now More Than the Typewriter Once Did.

The manicure operator is fast taking the place once held solely by the pretty typewriter-that is to say, it is a part of her business to have a gift for flirting, for sly glances, for sighs and giggles at unfunny jokes and stories, hers not to question why, or to have anything to say, but simply to listen and to appland with her smiles. Upon her general good nature and her responsiveness depends the size of the tip which she receives, for these magnificent creatures do take tips, and the number of invitations to the theater and to dinner which she gets in a week is legion.

The fact is, she works for this kind of favor far more earnestly than for a legitimate success. The small salaries paid in this business are proverbial, but the opportunities are numberless, and the young women who take it up are generally good looking, well dressed and have a superficial kind of style picked up from the swell demimondaines who frequent the manicures religiously once a week. I have seen a number of innocent looking, pretty girls, new to the business, develop into gorgeously appareled creatures with blackened eyebrows and chemical hair. Then they graduate from the profession, and novitiates take their places. They have learned the lesson.

"Do you have very much fun in this business?" I asked a happy looking girl as she "treated" my nails the other day.

"Fun? Well, I should say so," she replied enthusiastically. "I am going out to dinner tonight with Mr. president of the -- company. I tell you, he's the best friend we have. He takes one of us out every evening, and he's a perfect gentleman. Married? Oh, yes; his wife comes here, a lovely woman! He likes Miss A—— best, though. She's such a popular girl! On Saturday afternoons she always has a line of gentlemen waiting their turn. She really has more invitations than she can accept. She's so popular! Miss B--- is going on the stage this winter, you know. She's had a magnificent offer from Manager G- of the 'Bar of Soap' company!"

Though the hours of the manicure girl are long and the salaries small, is it any wonder that there is always a waiting list of applicants for the vacancies which sometimes occur?-New York Letter in Boston Journal.

LUCKY GOLD HUNTERS.

Some of Those Who Struck It Rich In the Victor Fields Were Poor Men.

During the period of first locations among the rich mines at Victor there were incidents which form an interesting history concerning the character of the men and the peculiar circumstances under which they made their lucky finds. All of them were poor, and nearly all have quickly grown from poverty to affluence, while many others now share the benefits of their fortune. It is well known that the two leading discoverers were poor carpenters-W. S. Stratton. the millionaire owner of the Independence, and W. T. Shemwell, who found the Elkton. Of all men known to possess wealth Mr. Stratton is one of the least pretentious, though he realizes the benefits and blessings of fortune and says he will enjoy the uses of his money to the end of making the balance of his life pleasant. Shemwell, owning 100,-000 shares in the Elkton, is over in Honolulu with his family, having a good time on an income of $1,000 per

It is well known that Burns and Doyle were also poor young men who found the rich Portland mine by the usual chances of the prospector and for some time were maware of their good fortune. When they had reached a depth of 18 feet in the process of development work, John Haman, another poor prospector, purchased a third interest in the claim for $300. After the purchase, greatly to his joy and in one sense to the discomfiture of the locators, an essay from the ore gave returns of $20,000 in gold to the ton. Immediately after that the partners shipped 19 small sacks that nerted them $1,900 cash. Since that time these men have grown wealthy, and the group of mines belonging to the Portland continues to grow in richness. Many others in the district are now going through the first stages of such experiences, and there are many more mountains and hills that will some day be scarred and drilled and honeycombed as Battle mountain appears to be today. -Denver Times.

SMITH'S QUEER AILMENT.

His Tongue Suddenly Runs Amuck and Disgraces Him.

As curious a case as has ever come up in the municipal court of this city probably was that of Captain J. B. Smith, who appeared before Judge Reid today to answer the charge of using vulgar and foul language on the streets, the warrant being sworn out for his arrest by Dr. J. C. Orchard. The charge was not denied by Captain Smith, who, through his attorney, entered a plea of being unable to hinder himself from using such language; that the muscles of his throat were affected with St. Vitus' dance, producing at times involuntary ejaculations for which he was not responsible, but which were directly traceable to the effects of the peculiar malady by which he is afflicted.

Smith may be talking rationally enough with a person, when he will at once make use of the foulest expressions and has been known to threaten the lives of his listeners, and in the next breath he will give the assurance that he did not mean anything he said.

Judge Reid ordered him to keep off the street, and his friends agreed to keep him in a private boarding house, and he stated that he would write to California for money and would leave the city by Monday next.

Smith has been sheriff of San Francisco county, Cal., and has held other responsible offices in that county. He was committed to the insane asylum at Salem. Or., last September, on account of his strange malady, but escaped from the institution and came to Tacoma. The doctors of the asylum discovered that he was not insane and entered his formal discharge from the institution on the books two days after his escape. He was brought before Judge Stallcup two weeks ago and examined as to his sanity and discharged. He is quite wealthy.—Tacoma Dispatch.

WHISTLER'S EGOTISM.

Now He Is Really Angry at Du Maurier and Is Quietly Kicking Himself.

The world of high class Bohemia in London has not yet ceased laughing over the vocife. As disgust of Whistler that Du Maurier left him out of the story of "Trilby," which is now printed in book form. For the sake of the advertising in it Whistler wrote a stingingly bitter letter to Du Maurier reproaching the author for drawing the painter's likeness in his novel, but now that the author has cut the painter out Whistler is really furious. Before he was only pretending to be so. This self expatriating American is one of the original celebrities of Europe. Once I had occasion to call at his studio in Chelsea on business connected with the art exhibit of the American exhibition in London. He wore a velvet coat, a low cut waistcoat, unlaundered shirt, flowing orange necktie, wide trousers and felt slippers, and spoke only epigrams, some of which were good. Later on I expressed a wish to look at some of his work.

"My dear fellow," he exclaimed in great seeming astonishment, "can you put up with a creation after having met the creator? The part can never equal the whole." I dispersed "that tired feeling" with a glass of sherry and persuaded him to show me the pictures. That was what

A VICTORY FOR PASKOLA

It Receives the official Endorsement of Eminent Experts and a Jury of Representative Citizens.

The suit brought by Ohio's Food Commissioner against a Cincinnati druggist for selling Paskola on the ground that it was nothing but glucose, resulted in a great victory for Paskola and a verdict against the State.

During the course of the trial, Prof. Shaller of the University of Cincinnati, testified that Paskola was not glucose, and even if it was, it would be harmless. He also bore witness to its activity as a digestive agent.

Prof. Wm. Dickore of the Miami College, testified to the same facts, So did Prof. Schmidt, the chemist of the Board of Health, Prof. Wm. Hoffman and others. A practical test was made in court.

showing the digestive action of Pagkola on eggs and meats of various kinds, whereas glucose under precisely the same conditions produced no effect whatever.

This test but confirmed the expert's statements and proved Paskola to be of great value in indigestion and wasting diseases.

This verdict disposes of the malicious attack that has been made against Paskola by interested rivals, and suits have now been brought against the proprietors of a well-known emulsion of cod liver oil for having given wide circulation to a false formula and other misrepresentations regard-

The animus of this attack will be the better understood when it is stated that Paskola is being largely used in the place of cod liver oil.

The Young Men's Democratic League of New Jersey has come to the conclusion that when that state gives 50,000 Republican majority there is something radically wrong with the Democratic organization, and it has invited a large number of prominent Democrats to attend a conference early in January, at which the condition of the party in the state will be considered. It is proposed to depose from leadership men in whom the people have shown that they have lost corfidence and to fill their places with men of high character and repu'ar Newburgh's doctors have formed a trade union for the regulation of charges for work done the county and have notified the Supervisors that hereafter their charges will not beless than $10 for looking at a body in a coroner's case, $25 for cutting up a body and $10 for an examination in lunacy. These seem like stiff prices and are undoubtedly considerably higher than would be charged individuals for similar services, but since the law requires the employment of physicians in certain coroner's cases and in lunacy proceedings the Newburgh doctors will probably be able to carry their point if they choose the right kind of a walking delegate to prevent "scabs" from cutting under union rates.

Although Brooklyn gave a majority of 1,140 in favor of consolidation with New York, the Brooklynites, who oppose the scheme, do not regard the vote as decisive and are preparing to continue the fight against being made a part of the "Greater New York" in the legislature and, if necessary, in the courts. The wives and daughters of Brooklyn's old families are bitterly opposed to eonsolidation and have formed an organization called the Loyal Dames of Brooklyn, to assist in opposing consolidation. They make no secret that their opposition is based on purely selfish grounds. As leaders of Brooklyn society they occupy an assured position. Swallowed up in the Greater New York they would be overshadowed and outclassed by the social leaders of that city and dure.

It seems inevitable that, sooner or later, we will be forced into making radical changes in our system of cur. rency, not, however, because of any loss of home confidence in its soundness, but because of the dislavor and even distrust in which it is held abroad. There is, however, only remotest probability that the subject will be handled to a conclusion by the Congress which assembles in December, even should the President, as is expected, urgently recommend legislation. It is a singular state of affairs when 65,000,000 of Americans have every confidence in the security of their circulating medium, a sense of security so absolute that they ask for paper when proffered gold at bank, that the people of other countries should have doubts and misgivings as to its intrinsic soundness. Nevertheless such is the case, and we are large pecuniary sufferers because of it. It is a difficult problem that confronts us, but solve it we must and that too, 'ere long.

THE ERIE'S BIG DEFICIT-

Gross Earnings Were $5,000,000 [Less Than for the Previous Year.

The annual report of the New York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad for the year ending September 20 last, which will be issued, to-day, probably makes the worst showing in the history of the road. The reorganization plan, it is understood, will have to be radically changed.

Figuring on the basis of previous years-that is, as if all charges were paid regularly-the company in 1894 falled to earn the interest on its second consolidated mortgage bonds by $1,600,000. Expressing it a little differently, the company earned only about $400,000 on these bonds, where $2,015,811 was called for.

There was a deficit of $1,167,600 on the Erie and leased lines proper, assuming that interest was paid on the second consolidated bonds as pre-

As the report for the previous year (including the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio and all other leased lines) showed a surplus of $917,438, there was thus a falling off, after all charges, of about $2,517,438 in the net results. The gross earnings amounted to upward of $24,500,000, a decrease of more than $5,000,000.

A Fountain of Health

Found in Hood's Sarsaparilla Cured of Headache, Pains in the Stomach, Loss of Appetite. "C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen—I wish to write a few words about Hood's Sarsaparilla. When De Soto landed in Florida he was in search of the fourtain which would give him perpetual youth. I think I have found a better fountain of health

In Hood's Sarsaparilla. When I commenced Hood's sarsha Cures taking this medicine I was all run down; had no appetite, no strength, dreadful pains in my stomach, and very severe headaches. All the remedies I took gave me only little relief, and I Was Discouraged thinking I would never be any better; but I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and two bottles made me feel like a different person. I have been cured of my troubles and cordially recommend this medicine." Miss CLODINH M. JOHNSON, Canastota, New York.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev.J.Gunierman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was taken down with pneumonia, succeeding lagrippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption, and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at McMonagle and Rogers' Drug Store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

Children's Clothing Again!

IS it possible that you have already forgotten what we said about children's clothing? If se, we repeat for your especial benefit. 'Twas this: We are selling our entire stock of Children's Clothing without profit.

This method we have adopted because we believe that can we once serve you we shall always serve you, feeling assured we can supply you with the best goods at the lowest price attainable. We have marked the prices on the children's goods in plain figures, so you can see for yourself.

To the contrary, as has been insinuated, we are not working off old stock because we sell without profit. The stock is all new, and the same that we would have sold you at a profit had we not adopted this method.

Again:-Is it probable that we make up the profit on the other lines of stock with other cloth. iers in town, when we sell, as we do, below their rates? How think you?

The important experiences of others are interesting. The following is no exception: "Thad been troubled with heart disease 25 years, much of that time very seriously. For five years, I was treated by one physician continuously. I was in business, but obliged to reure on account of my health. A physician told my friends that I could not live a month. My feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I was indeed in a serious condution when a gentleman directed my attention to Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and said that his sister, who had been afflicted with heart disease, had been cured by the remedy, and was again a strong, healthy woman. I purchased a bottle of the fleart Cure, and in less than an heart after taking the first dose I could feel a dectaed improvement in the circulation of my blood. When I had taken three doses I could move my ankles, something I had not done for months, and my limbs had been swollen so long that they seemed almost putrified Before I had taken one bottle of the New Heart Cure the swelling had all gone down, and I was so much better that I did my own work. On my recommendation six others are taking this valuable remedy."—Mrs. Morgan 559 W. Harrison St., Chicago, III

JEALOUS.

Mr. D. Bashford cherished high ideas of men, as opposed to women, and had exalted notions of the husband's dominion over his household.

Mr. Bashford had forbidden his wife attending the masquerade of the A. Z. A. society. He had his reasons for so doing, but his wife thought he might have made known his wishes in a little less imperious manner than he chose to adopt.

The ball was set down for the evening of the 29th. On the morning of that day Mr. Bashford went down town at the usual hour, but during the forenoon had occasion to visit a section of the city that led him past his own residence.

His attention was suddenly arrested by a young woman with a large bundle ascending the front steps of his house and ringing the doorbell.

His perplexity was increased when the door was opened cantionsly, the young woman admitted promptly, as if by previous understanding, and the door instantly closed again.

Mr. Bashford's curiosity and suspicion were aroused. Should he linger and solve the mystery or dismiss it from his mind and go on about his business: He debated the question irresolutely for a moment and finally decided that he must I now what was going on in his seacd awo

He had not long to wait. The young woman soon reappeared, but without the bundle, and walked briskly down

She led him to one of the busiest and gayest stree. and finally turned quickly into a celebrated costumer's establish-

Mr. Bashford was astonished. Could it be that is wife was venturesome enough to disobey him and had hired a costume wit.. a view of attending the masquerade'

He did ne linger long in meditation. His wife's undacity must receive a severe rebuke.

The proprieter was a woman. He accosted her thus:

"Madam, would you object to making $5 in as many minutes?"

The person addressed intimating that she would have no objection to that sort of thing, he continued:

"Then describe to me accurately the costume delivered by the young woman who entered this store a moment ago or else show me one just like it."

"Well," said the woman, hesitating, 'that wouldn't be exactly regular, you

"I understand that, but I can prove to you if necessary that I have a right to know, and that no harm can possib come to you by your telling me."
"Oh, well," said the woman, "I presume it will be all right! The costume was that of a Turkish lady. Here is one just like it, except that the hood is blue instead of searlet."

"Yes—just so," said Mr. Bashford, "The one that the young woman left at 54 --- street has a scarlet hood, has

"Yes, sii,"

"Very well. Here are your $5." He made no allasion when he went home to his 5 o'clock dinner to the eircumstances just related. He simply said to his wife before leaving, wondering the while at her innocent and unconstrained demeaner

"As I told you would probably be the case, Louise, I shall be detained down town by business tonight until late."

"Oh, dear, I am sorry! It is so lonesome these long evenings when you are obliged to be away."

The "business," which was to detain him was of a somewhat startling character. After spending a short time at his office he proceeded to a costumer's establishment and placed himself in the hands of an artist, who, after a long and tedious process, transformed him into a hideous looking Indian

This done, he ordered a carriage and gave directions to be driven to the place where the masquerade was to be held Mr. Bashford seemed to create quite a sensation in his character of Indian chief. Many stared at him, and some of the women shuddered. He did not dance at first, but walked with stately tread around the hall, gazing disdainfully on the giddy throng. He was searching for a Turkish lady with a scarlet hood.

It was some time before he found what he sought for. But at last he stopped suddenly, and his gaze lingered in a particular quarter. There was the Turkish lady with the scarlet hood, and her size and general contour were exactly those of his wife. There could be no mistake about it.

"Pooty squaw," he said in a guttural tone.

"Noble Injun" she replied.

"Squaw dances?" "Yes."

And they took their places on the floor for one of the quadrilles.

After this ensued what appeared to lookers on a scene of desperate flirtation, but in, Mr. Bashford's mind there was, of course, no harm in thus paying exclusive attention to his own wife, though a pang shot through his breast at the thought of her accepting such marked demonstrations from one who to all intents and purposes was a stran-wife-if it were she-was unwontedly witty, vivacious and entertaining.

But all of a sudden the Turkish lady deserted him and joined a Roman senator on the other side of the room. She conversed with him in a low tone, danced a set with him and afterward exchanged some private words in an apparently very confidential manner.

This fairly maddened Mr. Bashford with jealousy. Finally he got a chance to speak to her again. "Squaw must not leave her brave," he murmured. But she only laughed tantalizingly.

"I think I hear the pattering of raindrops," he said. "Shall we not stand in the open door, where it is cool?"

"Yes," she replied, "for a few moments. It will be a great relief."

They approached to the doorway and stood looking down a short flight of broad stone steps, which led to the side. walk. Beyond could be seen a solitary carriage, with a dim light glimmerinfrom the driver's seat. The driver hin self had sought shelter from the rai: within the carriage. Mr. Bashford looked cantiously around. No one was in sight. He then conghed in a peculiar manner. The driver instantly emerged, leaving the carriage door open, and walked carelessly forward, seemingly to inspect the harness of one of the horses.

Now was Mr. Bashford's time. He suddenly seized his companion round the waist, thrust his hand under her mask and pressed it over her mouth, and ran with her to the carriage.

"Scream and you will be murdered." he muttered in her ear. He then forced her in the carriage, stepping in after

Mr. Bashford held his fair prisoner firmly down to the seat and admonished her in the harshest tones he could command to remain silent.

She cowered down submissively, evidently too terrified to speak, trembling and panting violently. "What is to be done with me?" she summoned the courage to falter. "Hush!" he growled

Still the carriage rattled on through numerous streets and alleys, the drive having been instructed to take a long, roundabout course. Finally the driver gave a loud cough

This was a signal. He had calculated that the devious course they had takwould so bewilder his wife that he ideas of locality would be completely confused. He wanted to impress her with the belief that she was being carried to some den of unknown horrors. "Here we are," he growled. "Not a word from you, my beauty.

He rushed up the steps, carrying his captive under one arm. Unlocking the door with his night key, he rushed wit! her into the house. A loud scream greeted his arrival thermost corner of the room. 'Don't you know me, Louise "What does all this mean?" she said, stepping forward cautiously. "Wiy me you disguised so trightfully, and who is this you have with you?"

Mr. Bashford's bewilderment was so great that he had entirely forgotten that he was still supporting the Turkish lady, and he now nearly dropped her. 'Haven't you been to the masquerade?" he demanded of his wife. "To the masquerade! Certainly not." "Then who is this?" "That. How should I know? Why, as I'm alive, it's-oh, Dio, what under the sun have you been doing? This is Emma Burch!" And Mrs. Bashford bent over the prostrate form and set herself about applying restoratives. They soon had then effect. Miss Burch sat upright and lool. ed about her in a confused manner. "Louise, is it you?" she exclaimed, with a glad look and almost fainting again. "And am I really safe? Oh, hor-

"Dio, your husband, the one who kidnaped me? Oh, what does it all mean?' Both ladies looked at Mr. Bashford inquiringly, who was now forced to explain everything.

He did it with a very bad grace and a good deal of stammering. When he had concluded, his wife said:

"And so you thought the suit was for me when I only had it brought here to accommodate Emma. The same clothes fit us both, and I had it fitted to me because she wanted to be very secret about her costume. Oh, Dio, to think that you should have such little trust in me' Mr. Bashford had not a word to say,

He had for once in his life been fairly beaten, routed, ignominiously defeated. - Atlanta Constitution.

PECKSNIFFIAN ENGLAND. Her Army and Navy in the Interests of Peace,-While Others Mean War. A delightful illustration of that incurable hypocrisy which is one of England's national characteristics and which is most exp perating to foreigners is given in the Daily News. As a government organ The News had to say plea-ant things about the prime minister's speech at the Cuildhall banquet, and it certainly laid on praise with a very large brush, the predominant sentiment of its chief editorial being that Lord Rosebery is a great, self sacrificing statesman, and that England is the greatest and most unselfish nation in the world. "The premier did not say one word too much about the danger of those vast European armaments which seem to increase rather than diminish with years. He might perhaps have added a word in favor of international disarmament, which was once the dream of romantic missionaries and is now the hope of practical statesmen. It is true that the British navy has lately been strengthened and enlarged, but the purely defensive nature of that celebrated force is not doubted by the most captious of critics."

Thus spoke the great international Pecksniff in all his noble singleness of heart and purpose. Other wicked nations raise vast armies each with bad ulterior designs against his neighbors, but England, although she sedulously increases her fleet, does so solely for the glory of peace and good will among men. The British navy, in fact, is a great engine of peace, guaranteed not to hurt a fly. It may be urged by cynical foreigners that the great English newspaper, amid the general approval of the country, has been insisting that the British fleet was not strong enough to fight France and Russia combined and should be made fit to do so with the least possible delay, and that a proposal is afoot to create a new political party pledged, before everything else, to make the army and navy alike more effective for offense as well as defense. But The Daily News or any other English paper will experience no difficulty in proving that this movement is eminently unselfish and peaceful.-London Cor. New York Sun.

A PRISON EXPERIMENT.

Massachusetts Will Try to Prevent Some of Her Convicts From Becoming Hardened.

An experiment in the treatment of convicts is about to be inaugurated in the state prison of Massachusetts, at Charlestown, which may, as expected, be of much practical benefit in behalf of prison reform. It is something like a return to the system of solitary confinement, although in this case the prisoner will be allowed to decide for himself if he desires that mode of life during the period of his incarceration. A convict doing this will see no one but his keeper, but will be given plenty of exercise and good, wholesome food, provided with work and be kept in a comfortable

The evil after effects of the present gregarious method of keeping convicts will, it is believed, be prevented by the new system. Many men who depart from the path of propriety and are made to suffer for it legally go to prison with a determination to reform and to lead good lives when their sentences expire, but they are thrown constantly into the companionship of hardened criminals, who will not fail to insist upon a continuance of the prison acquaintanceship after they get out.

There are numerous instances on record where a man who has been released from prison and endeavors to lead a respectable life is forced back into crime by those who were companion convicts with him and who adopt a system of blackmail and threats to compel him to enter into relations with them. The Massachusetts mode will allow well disposed prisoners to separate themselves from the other convicts and let them leave their cells when freed, undismayed by the fear of meeting criminals who know they also wore the stripes and will take familiar advantage of their knowledge. — Washington Star.

SPECIAL PASSPORTS.

The State Department Has Decided That They Are Not to Be So Common Hereafter.

For years the granting of special passports to persons going abroad has been abused to such an extent, and so many people have procured them, that the state department has issued peremptory orders to refuse them hereafter except upon the special order of the secretary. It has been customary by the war department always to request special passports for any officer, no matter what his rank may be, when going abroad, even for pleasure, and up to within a few months ago the requests were promptly granted. When, however, a batch for a lot of lieutenants were requested dur-ng the summer the secretary crossed over to Secretary Lamont's office and protested vigorously against this action, so that orders have now been issued directing officers of the army to take the same passports for which other persons pay $1, which contain their accurate description.

A few weeks ago Mr. Whitelaw Reid applied for a special passport for himself and family, and it was only with the greatest difficulty it was secured. These passports are handsomely engrossed affairs and engraved on heavy parchment, and there are few instances where a man having one with him has trouble in getting around countries of Europe, which are on the lookout for anarchists, nihilists and would be monarch killers. -Washington Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

TWO ASSESSMENTS IN A YEAR.

Belaware County Farmers Find Mutual Insurance Very Expensive. From Our Up Midland Correspondent.

Searcely was the ink dry on the article I wrote you about the troubles that had evertaken the Delaware County Farmers' Insurance Company, when its patrons began to receive notices of assessment to pay on or before Dec. 20th, three and a half mills on the dollar. This is the second ass sament this year, the other having been made in July. So far it will cost the members fifty cents on each hundred dollars for this year. As the old stock companies only charge seventy-five cents for each hundred insured for a period of three years, it will be seen that the Delaware county company has broken the record. Rusticus.
